

PREKMURJE FOR MEETINGS AND EVENTS

One of Slovenia's strongest features is the diversity of its landscapes, from the Alpine and Karst landscapes to the coast and its north-eastern uplands and lowlands. The most recent to come on the visitor's radar is perhaps the least well-known of Slovenian destinations, but it is one that you really shouldn't miss! With fascinating authenticity at every step the Pannoinan lowlands, called Prekmurje, is a sleeping beauty of a destination that is now slowly awakening. It is a place where you get the feeling that time has stopped still for a while – and in visiting you can do the same thing too.

*Prekmurje – Slovenia’s most eastern region, bordering Austria and Hungary
Prekmurje is geographically defined by the Mura river. A tourist spots linked to the town’s thermal water. Some 50 years ago ‘black gold’ seekers unexpectedly stumbled across geothermal water instead of oil and found that bathing in it invigorated their organs, improved their blood circulation and lessened nervous tension. Not just the water, but the people you meet in Prekmurje are also special: warm, hospitable and welcoming guests with a sincere smile that really makes you feel at home.*

Gastronomy

On the open fire you will toast a piece of rye bread, rub it with garlic and spread the traditional minced lard. It is recommended to then wash it all down with a sip of home-made spirit! Before the start of the river adventure it's a good idea to visit the only running-water mill on the Mura river, where they still grind different sorts of cereal in a time-honored way.
