We strongly encourage all meeting planners interested in acquiring our support to get in touch with us – we will do our best to make your Warsaw event a great success!

How we can help

Warsaw Convention Bureau is a department of Warsaw Tourism Organisation, a private-public association established by Warsaw City Hall for the purpose of promoting Warsaw as an attractive destination for individual and business tourism. One of the goals of Warsaw Convention Bureau is to encourage large conferences, fairs and congresses to take place in the city. As part of this goal, we offer support to both Polish and international meeting planners considering Warsaw for their events. By using the synergy of public and private entities associated in Warsaw Tourism Organisation, we strive to provide each organiser with the range of services presented here.

Each request for support is individually evaluated and the decision on the scope of the support depends on a number of factors, such as the available resources of Warsaw Convention Bureau and its partners, as well as the economic impact and significance in terms of content and image of the event. ■

SUPPORT FOR THE EVENT

Whether you are a Polish or an international meeting planner intending to organise a significant congress in Poland's capital, Warsaw Convention Bureau will strive to provide your meeting with the following support:

- Acquiring a complimentary venue
- Acquiring complimentary public transport tickets
- Warsaw sightseeing tours for VIP guests
- Keynote speaker sponsorship package
- Welcome stand at the Warsaw Chopin Airport
- Inviting local and state government representatives
- Promotion before and at the event
- Additional benefits from the members of Warsaw Tourism Organisation

SUPPORT FOR THE LOCAL CONGRESS AMBASSADOR

If you are a member of the Polish scientific community or a representative of a local industry association and you would like to attract a significant international congress to Warsaw – here is how we can support you:

- Preparation for the destination pitch
- Assistance with developing the bid book
- Support from local partners
- Active help with presenting Warsaw offer to the decision makers
- Promotion of the event

We cordially welcome every meeting planner interested in cooperation on staging congresses, conferences, fairs and other business and scientific events in Warsaw. We will make every effort possible to make your event in Warsaw a great success!

Discover Warsaw

With Warsaw at the heart of Poland, and Poland at the heart of Europe, it should not be surprising to anyone that the capital city has developed into one of the continent's prime scientific and business destinations. It is common meeting place, not only for political and scientific conferences in this part of the continent, but also for business and cultural events. Many institutions and organisations from Central and Eastern Europe have their offices in Warsaw, which has naturally led to a never-ending river of ideas, innovations and capital. Since joining the European Union, Warsaw has enjoyed an influx of EU funding, which has resulted in huge amounts of money being invested in development, the construction of new sports venues, the modernisation of public transport, culture, education, and on improving the look, the feel and the utility of city spaces.

If you want to visit a city in Europe that offers thrills, class and experiences, a metropolis that leaves happy memories with all the tourists, businessmen and art lovers who spend time there, then you're looking for Warsaw! Whether you are visiting Warsaw for business or for pleasure, the city offers all the attractions you need to make your trip a perfect one.

No matter what you think you know about Warsaw, the city will surprise you. It is dynamic and forward looking, constantly changing and always offering great potential for the future. With modern architecture, friendly infrastructure, a well-established stock market and creative inhabitants – here lies the beating heart of business! But behind the bustle of the business world you can feel the rhythm of the city, or take a more relaxing stroll along the banks of the Vistula, offering sunny beaches, and evenings of music and film. Try the many and varied tastes of the city's restaurants. Simply get lost in the backstreets and discover something fascinating. Why wait? Warsaw is there to be explored! ■

Warsaw – a historical city

Warsaw's history is both diverse and turbulent. Last century alone it went from Russian subjugation to being called the Paris of the North, before the utter destruction of World War II when the city was reduced virtually to rubble, only to rise again under Soviet influence. The Old Town especially shows the remarkable resilience of the city, having been thoroughly reconstructed and being listed as a UNESCO World Heritage site. The Old Town is also the starting point of the Royal Route, an avenue that runs from the Royal Castle – the seat of Polish Kings, past the Royal Łazienki Park – a Palace garden complex – and down to the Wilanów Royal Palace. During the communist era, the city was shaped by the grey, utilitarian architecture of socialism, dominated by the looming presence of the Palace of Science and Culture. Since Poland's political transformation, however, huge improvements have been made and Warsaw has seen rapid and dramatic changes. Now it is an inspiring place, creative and modern. ■

Warsaw – City of Chopin

Fryderyk Chopin is famed around the world as a composer and pianist. Not so many people know that Warsaw is the city of Chopin, which was a very special place for the composer. It was in the capital city that the Chopin family lived for Fryderyk's early years, and it was here that the artist spent the first half of his life. Fryderyk learned to play the piano in Warsaw, charming aristocrats with his magnificent concert performances, and attracting interest from the city's press. However, he remained a typical Warsaw boy, walking round the city's streets, learning foreign languages, picking up girls, and joking around with his friends at fashionable cafes.

Nowadays, there are many places on the streets of Warsaw where traces of Fryderyk Chopin can still be found (and we're not just talking about the composer's heart, which was brought back here after his death). Use our free mobile applications and website to find out how interesting Chopin's Warsaw was, and still is! His music still resonates today as an expression of Poland's passionate nature, its one of a kind culture and the highs and lows of its history.

Throughout the summer, there are public concerts to be enjoyed in the Royal Łazienki Park where a statue of Chopin watches over the crowds of eager listeners. And all year round you can hear his music while resting on one of the many multimedia Chopin benches for a quick break from exploring the composer's picturesque city. And for a more in-depth look at the life of the great man, the Fryderyk Chopin Museum is very modern and interactive and boasts the largest collection of the composer's memorabilia in the world. Just a short trip away from Warsaw, you can add to your Chopin experience by visiting the nearby cities of Żelazowa Wola – the composer's birthplace, and Sanniki – which will show you all you wanted to know about Chopin and the typical Mazovian folk culture that influenced his work. ■

The Fryderyk Chopin Museum at Warsaw's Ostrogski Palace is one of the most highly acclaimed modern biographical museums in Europe. The multimedia exhibition expertly displays the world's richest and most varied collection of Chopin memorabilia – from his life and his works. The collection includes manuscripts and printed copies of Chopin's compositions, his correspondence, autographs, notes, personal items, and pianos. [Address: ul. Okólnik 1]

Chopin and His Europe International Music Festival

Chopin and His Europe International Music Festival is a magnet for all lovers of classical and contemporary music. Organised every August since 2005 by the Fryderyk Chopin Institute, every year there is a new overarching theme followed by the outstanding Polish and international artists invited to play there.

Don't miss!

Open-air concerts are held at the feet of the monument to Fryderyk Chopin every Sunday from May until September. The concerts welcome outstanding pianists from all over the world and are free of charge. All you need to do is sit in the park and listen to the wonderful music.

Fryderyk Chopin
International Piano
Competition – next edition in 2020
in Warsaw

Every five years since 1927, Warsaw has been attracting the very best piano players in the world to participate in the Fryderyk Chopin International Piano Competition. The event was the brainchild of Jerzy Żurawlew – a renowned pianist and teacher – with the aim of bringing the music of the great composer to a wider audience. The competition has gone from strength to strength – which is no surprise, given the event's prestige and the international careers enjoyed by the winners. ■

Próżna Street

Warsaw has long had a strong connection with the Jewish world. Before World War II, over 30 per cent of Warsaw's population was Jewish, leaving Warsaw with the second largest Jewish population in the world, behind New York. That population enjoyed Jewish schools, libraries, theatres and sports clubs and had many famous celebrities. Warsaw was home to the author and Nobel Prize winner, Isaac Bashevis Singer, the pianist and composer Władysław Szpilman – known from the film “The Pianist”, and the outstanding actress Ida Kamińska.

However, the atrocities of the Second World War changed everything, with the Nazis establishing a Jewish ghetto, systematically exterminating the inhabitants and destroying synagogues. In today's Warsaw you can still find a lot of places that hark back to this tragic history: The Monument of the Ghetto Heroes next to POLIN Museum, the monument of Umschlagplatz, the place from where Jews were transported to the Treblinka death camp, and the sign of the ghetto wall along the pavements. POLIN Museum, the Jewish Theatre, Grzybowski Square, Próżna Street and the Nożyk Synagogue are the places most associated with Jewish culture today, but there are stories everywhere. In Żabiński Villa you can hear the incredible tale of the Warsaw Zoo director and his wife, and their heroic work in saving Jewish people life, immortalised in a recent film. Every autumn there is also a festival of Jewish culture – “Singer's Warsaw” – which aims to spread awareness of the richness of Jewish culture and how things used to be. ■

POLIN Museum of the History of Polish Jews

- Winner of the 2017 European Union Prize for Cultural Heritage / Europa Nostra Awards.
- The best European museum of 2016, awarded by EMYA.
- It is not a Holocaust Museum, this is museum of life – 1,000 years of history of the Polish and Jewish nations.
- Located in a very symbolic place, next to the Ghetto Heros Monument in the district of the former ghetto.
- The amazing reconstruction of the wooden Gwoździec synagogue is a must see.

Vistula Boulevards

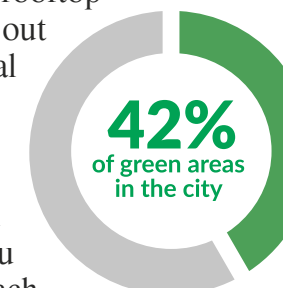

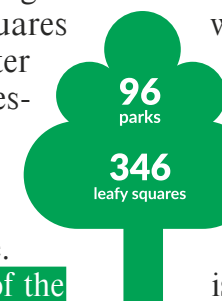

Warsaw is a green and refreshing destination with its 346 leafy squares and 96 parks covering a quarter of the city. The largest and most impressive of these is the Royal Łazienki Park and Palace complex covering 76 ha of parkland in the middle of the city and containing some beautiful architecture. There is also the incredible green roof of the University Library, one of the largest rooftop gardens in Europe, with a view looking out over the Vistula River and the National Stadium.

Warsaw's river banks are considered to be the summer centre of the city, with much to offer on both sides. Here you can relax on one of eight municipal beaches, rent sports equipment, go on a bicycle tour along the river or take a cruise on traditional wooden boats. There is also a free river ferry during the summer months. The Vistula River in Warsaw is particularly unique due to its natural values. The right bank of the river is entirely wild and home to beavers, terns and even moose, which you might catch a glimpse of if you're lucky. The area is protected by the Natura 2000 programme.

The left bank has also undergone extensive renovation to make it into a vibrant and interesting place to spend time. Close by, near to the Royal Castle, there is the Multimedia Fountain Park. This is also a venue for many cultural events, primarily Wianki (the summer solstice celebration) in June, and the Feast of the Vistula in September. ■

Cuisine

Polish cuisine is not simply pierogi and sausage – though they play their role and come in many shapes and flavours. However, most Varsovian dining tables will see a lot of pork, with ample amounts of beef, poultry and fish. Soups play a very important role, with many to try from and ones to favour every palate. It is also true that Varsovians have a sweet tooth and enjoy their cakes: whether it is one of the many cheesecakes, or apple pies, or traditional poppy-seed cakes and gingerbread, popular especially over Christmas time. During Easter, there are frosting-covered yeast cakes and an obligatory addition to every Easter meal is “mazurki” – a confection entirely unknown outside of Poland. Poland is also known for its famous vodka, best served chilled in small shot glasses and swallowed in one go. Warsaw boasts a galaxy of restaurants and a huge variety of cuisines, Polish and others from around the world. We can recommend a few that serve Polish dishes ►

Recommended restaurants for MICE:

Smaki Warszaw

An elegant restaurant that offers dishes from Polish cuisine, especially specialties from pre- and post-war Warsaw. Ul. Żurawia 47/49, www.smakiwarszawy.pl

Piąta Ćwiartka

The dishes served in Piąta Ćwiartka used to be present in the Polish cuisine in the past and today they are almost forgotten. This restaurant is restoring their magnificence. Royal Castle, Plac Zamkowy 4, www.kregliccy.pl

Warszawa Wschodnia

A restaurant of a unique atmosphere, where old Polish dishes “are spiced up with a French Bon Appétit!” Warszawa Wschodnia is open 24/7. Ul. Mińska 25, www.gessler.sohofactory.pl

AleGloria

In the very heart of the city, strawberry bushes are in bloom and white geese have flown in. The new venture shows Polish cuisine in a different dimension. Recipes of Polish cuisine are combined with better or less known traditional dishes to present a new image of a culinary art. Plac Trzech Krzyży 3, www.alegloria.pl

E. Wedel Chocolate Lounge

This address of the cafe and shop has been unchanged since 1894, though the Wedel factory and first flagship store appeared in 1851. Old-Fashioned Shop serves Wedel breakfasts, which consist of excellent bread, cheese, freshly-squeezed juice, tea, coffee and of course cups of chocolate. Ul. Szpitalna 8, www.wedelpijalnie.pl

Dishes such as flaki (1), pyzy (2), tatar (3) and nózki have risen to capital prominence. In some restaurants menus boast of these dishes as being “in Varsovian style” due to the unique preparation. Żurek (4) is an Old Polish dish made from fermented rye flour.

Hala Koszyki

Warsaw's Halls

One of the recent developments in Warsaw has been the reinvention of former trade centres, originally intended to bring Warsaw's open-air markets inside, to be better organised and more hygienic, and now, with the prevalence of modern supermarkets, have changed again to enjoy a new lease of life. In Warsaw there are three main halls, each with historical aspects.

Hala Mirowska

The Koszyki market hall has come to be known as the ‘People’s bazaar’. It reopened in the autumn of 2016, and found its way into the hearts of the city residents as Warsaw’s social and culinary centre. It offers a range of street food stalls from around the world, in one location around a long central bar, together with high quality shops offering fresh products for anyone who wants to recreate the sumptuous smells and tastes in their own home. Hala Koszyki is Warsaw’s answer to similar such investments in places like New York, London, Lisbon and Florence, bustling with activity around and buzzing with interesting chatter. (Address: ul. Koszykowa 63)

Hala Mirowska has been among the largest and most interesting markets in Warsaw for over a century. Rebuilt after the war, it was known as a place where you could find everything, and hosted a large, colourful and fragrant flower market. Now it is a place beloved by chefs and foodies, with something for even the most demanding of recipes... if you look hard enough, as you can find almost everything there. (Address: Plac Mirowski 1)

A new food hall, Hala Gwardii – opened at the end of September 2017 in the centre of War-

Hala Gwardii

saw. A great place for breakfast, lunch or dinner, to pick up some shopping at the food market or in specialised shops, or just soak up the atmosphere. The offer in Hala Gwardii is diversified. Street food style booths offer a range of dishes from all around the world and beer or wine is available. Hala Gwardii is open from Friday to Sunday. The food market is open from 9 am to 8 pm on Friday and Saturday, and from 10 am to 5 pm on Sunday. (Address: Plac Żelaznej Bramy 1) ■

NIGHT MARKET

This is Warsaw's first ever street food night market, located on the postal platforms of Warsaw's former Main Railway Station (Warszawa Główna). It is a gathering of stalls with tempting food from all corners of the globe, independent traders, merchants, and music modelled on the famous night markets of Asia. Warsaw's Night Market gathers together many of the most enticing street food sellers with a wide range of culinary delights. The Market is open every summer weekend from evening until late at night.

BREAKFAST MARKET

If the Night Market is too late for you, then think about Warsaw's Breakfast Market, with a picnic atmosphere where families and friends can eat breakfast outside on the grass, take part in workshops and do some shopping. Every weekend, visitors can sample regional specialties from around Poland and the world, as well as a wide range of original dishes served up just for the market. The Breakfast Market takes place throughout the summer months, outside in the open air of various parks and green areas, moving between the districts of Żoliborz, Mokotów, Praga and the Powiśle neighbourhood.

VEGETARIAN WARSAW

According to the website “Happy Cow”, Warsaw is one of the most welcoming places for vegans and vegetarians. The website maps meat-free restaurants around the world, and speaks highly of the Polish capital. It is the only Eastern European city on their list. Warsaw takes pride in having a large number of vegan restaurants.

In the footsteps of communism

After World War II, while the Old Town was rebuilt from pictures and memories, the rest of Warsaw was given a new look to reflect the new era. Architects were tasked with rebuilding the city in a new style of design: “socialist in content and national in form”. This architectural heritage of socialist realism is most visible in Warsaw through a visit to the Palace of Culture and Science, which looms over the city and which celebrated its 60th anniversary in 2015. Walk around Parade Square and imagine listening to the propaganda-filled speeches of the leaders of the Polish People’s Republic. At Constitution Square (Plac Konstytucji), in the Marszałkowska Housing District, there are more impressive sculptures from the 1950s on display. To feel the spirit of the past era, try a visit to one of the remaining milk bars – fast food canteens from that time, offering inexpensive, home style traditional Polish cooking, and enjoy their unique atmosphere where time has stood still. Nostalgia is so strong, that now there are new bars styled on the post-communist ones.

Visit the private museum of Life Under Communism and hear stories about life with empty shops and long queues. ■

Warsaw is almost unrecognisable to anyone who has not visited it in a while, and is constantly changing and up-dating. However, some of its quirky character and many of its cult places are still there to be discovered. Some of these places hark back to a by-gone age and depict what everyday life was like in the post-war communism of the Polish People's Republic (PRL). Others take these old buildings and renovate them in exciting and interesting ways to delight the people who use them or visit. See what makes Warsaw special!

Warsaw's Neons

Warsaw's streets once glittered with neon lights – during the great cold war 'neonisation' campaign, the capital was lit up from every building it seemed. That is documented and remembered in the amazing Neon Museum, which has recovered and protects the post-war neon advertising that once flooded the streets of Polish cities with light and colour. The museum's collection is contained within one of Poland's oldest post-industrial factory buildings, itself renovated and modernized to become a thriving cultural heart of the capital, Soho Factory. This combination is perfect for the museum, giving the venue an atmosphere like no other. Well worth a visit, the area is also a unique and stunning backdrop that has been used for product launches, fashions shoots, corporate functions and cultural excursions alike.

Places to visit:

- Neon Museum
Soho Factory, ul. Mińska 25

Poster Museum

Polish posters are considered to be conceptual masterpieces and beautiful works of art in their own right. Wilanów's Poster Museum has a collection of 36,000 Polish Posters and nearly 25,000 Foreign Posters, making the museum one of the largest, and certainly the oldest, of its kind. And to see classic posters in a different setting, visit the Relaks café in the Mokotów district, with its walls covered with posters in rotating displays, combining past masters with upcoming talent.

Places to visit:

- Poster Museum
ul. St. Kostki Potockiego 10/16
- Relaks café
ul. Puławska 48

Milk bars

No visit to Warsaw would be complete without a visit to a milk bar (bar mleczny). This is an essential Polish sightseeing experience and a step back in time to when meat and fresh vegetables were scarce, and state-run restaurants served cheap meals. The milk bars of today remain cheap, cafeteria-style establishments that offer comfort foods – soups, pierogi (dumplings) as well as a meat-and-potatoes menu (quite literally). They offer a wider variety of foods than was once available, but the basic concept remains. There are a few left in the capital and are not only an inexpensive meal, but with the right attitude they are also a fun cultural adventure.

Places to visit:

- Bar Bambino
ul. Hoża 19
- Prasowy
ul. Marszałkowska 10/16
- Bar Mleczny Rusatka
ul. Floriańska 14

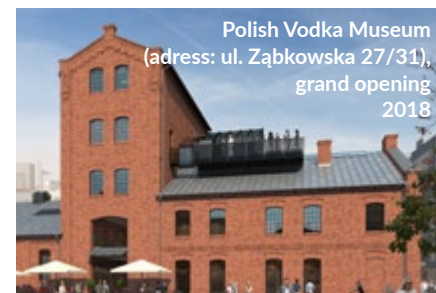

Ząbkowska Street – Praga district

Warsaw's Praga district is enjoying a cultural resurgence and that is certainly true of Ząbkowska Street, once of the area's oldest streets dating back to the turn of the century when the capital was just expanding across the river. Pre-WWI it was mainly a Jewish area, with upper middle-class traders and entrepreneurs adding to the bustling street life, and the street was already known as an centre of entertainment. Ząbkowska Street has worked hard to retain that reputation, with many restaurants and bars attracting tourists, students and hipsters. These places offer Polish and Czech specialties at decent prices and in a trendier atmosphere than some other districts of Warsaw, and has developed as an artist hub, where many musicians and painters are still finding inspiration. Close by, the Praga Zoo Market was established in 2016, modelled on the Berlin vintage bazaar and flea market in Mauerpark. Visitors can find porcelain, glass, fabric, retro clothes and accessories, toys, old books, vinyl as well as the work of modern designers.

Parade Square

Parade Square was designed as an open urban place at the very centre of Warsaw, both accessible and attractive for residents and tourists. During the summer, the Square becomes an arena for a wide range of freely available cultural and recreational events. The central point of the Square is a long table, a symbolic space around which there is a series of communal events, including meet-ups, debates, workshops, public consultations and bottom-up initiatives.

Warszawa Powiśle

If you only have time for one night out in Warsaw, then get your evening off to a great start at Warszawa Powiśle – good beer, good food and amazing location. And it's not just evenings – try their breakfasts, or pierogi, or rest in a big, comfy deck chair. It has a great vibe, and an interesting history – the structure used to be a ticket booth for the neighbouring train station.

Fotoplastikon

Travel back in time with the Warsaw Fotoplastikon! This fascinating place allows viewers to watch changing three-dimensional images, and has archives with over 3,000 original photographs from Warsaw and around the globe. Built in the early 20th century, it is the only one in Poland – and one of very few anywhere in the world that remains in perfect working condition.

Mysia 3 – department store

This is an alternative department store in a former censorship office from the Communist era. Venturing inside you will find a curated crop of Polish and international brands across five floors. There is much to do here, not least browsing through the cut-out dresses and oversize blazers, but also catching up on the latest offers in the interior design store, or coming across a piece of delicate handmade jewellery. There is also a photo exhibition for you to look at... or simply enjoy a coffee in the back-yard cafeteria.

Address: ul. Mysia 3

Iluzjon – post-war modernist cinema

Not many of the post-war, modernist, small cinemas remain in Warsaw. However, the former Stolica cinema, now called Iluzjon, is still going strong. It was built in 1953 and was renovated not long ago. It shows classic movies and the latest films. Don't forget to check out a very nice park around it.

Address: ul. Narbutta 50a

Museum of Hunting and Horsemanship

According to its profile, the museum combines the themes of hunting and horsemanship – it is unique in Europe, with the added value of being located in the picturesque Łazienki Royal Park – a green heart of Warsaw. In the museum you can find exhibitions about nature – rare or extinct animals and birds alongside more exotic fauna.

Warsaw MICE Infrastructure – Conference Hotels

Warsaw's large number of four- and five-star hotels is a huge asset and advantage for the city. Most of the big international hotel chains are present in Warsaw, including Accor, Best Western, Carlson Rezidor, Hilton, InterContinental, Louvre Hotels Group, Marriott and Starwood (as a part of Marriott chain), along with many others from Polish hotel groups. Most of the hotels are located in the city centre, with many of them within walking distance of each other. ■

SCIENTIFIC COMMUNITY

A capital city like Warsaw is naturally incredibly complex to manage and organise, given the multiple diverse and often contradictory opinions, directions and areas to control. All this makes finding an effective development policy a real challenge, not only as a responsibility of the local government, but also as for the numerous entities influencing the quality of the economy in Warsaw. With this in mind, Warsaw has implemented a Triple Helix concept, which implies that the innovation of the knowledge-based economy is a result of close cooperation between three sectors: science, business and local administration.

Warsaw perceives the development of a modern, knowledge-based economy as a strategic and major goal. The city is constantly increasing the impact of the research sector on the economy by developing research infrastructure, transferring knowledge and technology between science and business (centres of advanced services and databases) and increasing access to innovation support instruments (consulting, training, scholarships, grants etc.).

Warsaw is one the most significant scientific hubs in Europe, with over 150 scientific institutions and a multitude of professors and researchers being active members of international associations.

The local authorities are aware that developing a network of cooperative relationships positively influences not only mutual relations between companies and scientific communities, but also builds an important segment of the economy through the MICE sector. Therefore, the City of Warsaw, using the synergy of public and private entities associated within Warsaw Tourism Organisation, offers wide support for meeting planners considering bringing their congresses, conferences, fairs or other events to Warsaw. ■

In the academic year 2015/2016 in Warsaw:

- there were approximately 70 higher education institutions
- about 260,000 students of which nearly 16,000 were foreigners in Warsaw's higher education institutions

Warsaw scored 'very high' (the highest possible level) in terms of fluency in the EF English Proficiency Index – a ranking showing the level of English skills

Over 29% of foreigners studying in Poland are students of one of Warsaw's higher education institutions

Polish Congress Ambassadors Programme

Through their professional activity in international associations, the Polish Congress Ambassadors spread knowledge about Poland's advantages and secure international congresses for the country. Each year, the council of the Polish Congress Ambassadors Programme nominates up to 20 representatives of scientific and business communities who exceptionally contribute to acquiring international congresses to Poland and who excel in promoting the country abroad. There are more than 130 active Ambassadors at present. ■

The University of Warsaw has been Poland's number one university three times in a row according to the Perspektywy 2016 Higher Education Institutions League Table.

Getting to Warsaw

182 ✈ direct flights to
WARSAW

By plane

Warsaw is a convenient location in terms of air travel and has direct flight connections to 4 continents, 65 countries and 182 cities.

2 international airports:

- Chopin Airport – main airport, about 10 km from the city centre.
- Warsaw Modlin Airport – located around 35 km north-west from the city centre*.

* Convenient transfers to Warsaw Modlin Airport with Modlin Bus. For more visit: www.modlinbus.pl

By train

Warsaw is also well connected to other European cities by rail. There are 3 train stations in Warsaw providing international and intercity train services. They are well connected to the public transportation network.

Visa regulations

Poland is in the Schengen zone. Visitors from non-EU countries must hold a passport valid for at least three months beyond the length of stay. Participants requiring a visa should apply immediately to a consular office or a diplomatic mission of the Republic of Poland in their country in order to avoid a delayed arrival to the event. Please note that the visa application procedure can take up to two weeks.

Getting around

If you are sightseeing in the Old Town or wandering around the Palace of Culture and Science area, you might find it easier and more interesting to go by foot. Otherwise, take Warsaw's quick, safe and efficient public transport system of metro, trams, buses and night buses.

while travelling back in time to the 1950s, you can hitch a ride on the historic "T" tram line, or as an alternative ride the city offers trips along the Vistula River by watertrams or ferries. Finally, there is the option of taking a rickshaw around the Krakowskie Przedmieście area. ■

If you want to travel round Warsaw in a bit of style, you can escape from the traditional forms of transport, such as taxis or buses, and get a glimpse of 19th century Warsaw, in the form of horse omnibuses and cabs round the Old Town. To see the city centre and Warsaw's right bank

FEATURES:

- 1 ticket valid for all means of public transport
- 2 metro lines
- 3 main train stations connected to the public transportation network
- 70% of Warsaw residents believe that Warsaw is a bicycle-friendly city
- 85% of Warsaw residents have a positive opinion of the public transport in the city

Rent a bike!

With Veturilo, Warsaw joins the other cities offering a bike rental system. Available from March until November, it opens the city up to bike rides near and (relatively) far. The past year marked an absolute record in the city bike's popularity. Already as many as 610,000 people have accounts in the Warsaw system, and have rented bikes a record-breaking eight million times so far. Warsaw's Veturilo public bike system is one of the largest and one of the most popular systems in Europe.

Hotel Bristol is the oldest hotel in Warsaw and was founded by Ignacy Paderewski – world recognized composer. The exceptional nature of the hotel comes from its combination of subtle art déco elegance and XXI century modernity. The hotel is situated on the “Royal Route”, near the Old Town, the Royal Castle and the National Theatre.

Since 1901, Hotel Bristol has hosted Warsaw's most important events. The banquet salons offer an extraordinary experience, with contemporary comforts and conveniences in a distinct venue with artistic heritage.

Warsaw – the capital of culture and art

Due to its rich intellectual and artistic diversity and its numerous entertainment events, Warsaw enjoys a reputation of being the cultural centre of both Poland and the CEE region. The Polish capital offers many surprises, with an amazing selection of museums and galleries to keep everyone interested.

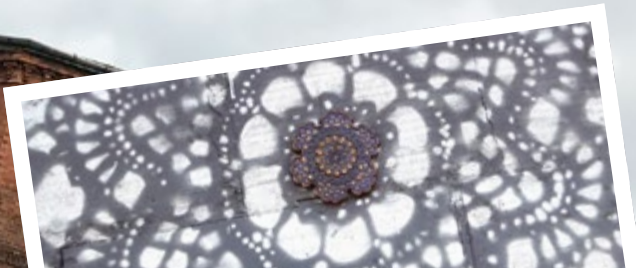

Just a small sample of cultural attractions not to be missed must include: The Royal Castle, with its impressive array of 23 paintings by Bernardo Bellotto, better known as Canaletto, and two original canvases by Rembrandt; the award-winning Museum of the History of Polish Jews POLIN, hosted in a building that is a gem of contemporary architecture; and the one-of-a-kind Faras Gallery at the National Museum in Warsaw, featuring Nubian culture and art artefacts from the Christian period.

Discover Warsaw Street Art

Street art has gradually become an important element of Warsaw's cityscape, making the city more colourful and exciting, and a real paradise for photographers. If you look carefully, you can discover the most interesting projects of local artists, such as NeSpoon, adorning abandoned walls, city streets, and houses with beautiful intricate lace patterns translated into paintings, ceramics, crochets, and stencil works. Warsaw also hosts a large gallery of foreign street art artists – including Dome, Blu and Pixel Pancho.

Royal Łazienki was King Stanisław August's summer residence, in which classicist architecture is harmoniously blended with its gardens.

This is a place where you can not only rest, but also deepen your knowledge about the ideas of the Enlightenment, by visiting such gems of European architecture as: the Palace on the Isle, housing the Royal Picture Gallery; The Old Orangery, housing the Royal Sculpture Gallery and the Royal Theatre; the White Pavilion, housing the King's Collection of Prints; the Myślewicki Palace; the Officer Cadets School; and the picturesque Amphitheatre.

In the Royal Łazienki gardens, you can stroll along paths and alleys surrounded by trees, shrubs, and flowers. Visitors can spend their time in the Royal Garden, the Romantic Garden and the Modernist Garden. The Deckchair Leisure Zone – located near the New Orangery – is also available.

Royal Łazienki is an ideal place to organise a gala, a reception, a concert or a conference, not forgetting a romantic wedding ceremony.

The harmonious space, combining classical architecture with beautiful gardens, will raise the status of any event. By planning your event in these interiors, you can be certain of arranging unforgettable occasions.

The building of the museum is already making a huge impression – a fantastic, slightly rough structure that is full of symbolic Polish Jewish historical meaning. Inside the museum you will find a special exhibition showing centuries of Jewish presence on Polish land – its key element is a full size replica of a synagogue in Gwoździec.

It was designed by Finnish architect Rainer Mahlamäki, whose remarkable, visionary design was awarded the Chicago Athenaeum International Architecture Award, the Eurobuild Award in the 2013 POLIN Museum of the History of Polish Jews was awarded the prestigious European Museum of the Year Award (EMYA) 2016.

POLIN Conference Centre is part of POLIN Museum of the History of Polish Jews and consists of an auditorium, conference rooms, workshop rooms, a foyer that can serve as exhibition space, and the main hall – an ideal place for organising banquets. It is equipped with an elaborate audio system and professional stage lighting, making it possible to hold conferences, film screenings and concerts there.

Reduta Banku Polskiego is a unique place in Warsaw. The building was designed at the beginning of 19th century by the rector of the Academy of Fine Arts in St. Petersburg – Professor Leontij Nikolaevich Benois. It was built between 1907 and 1911 for the Russian State Bank, on the site of the demolished mint of the last Polish king, August Poniatowski.

Offering a historical interior located in the heart of the city, this venue really is a perfect choice for a creative, unconventional event, whether a conference, gala dinner or business meeting. The interior décor can be arranged many ways, allowing creative stage designers to show their skills and add to the spectacle of the event.

The building consists of two conference halls: each 355 m², as well as an underground hall with a bar, toilets and cloakroom (340 m² altogether). Several meetings can be organised there at the same time, with the building well able to accommodate up to 700 people at once.

The building was designed in 1952 by Professor Marek Leykam, a prominent architect and art historian. The building was initially meant to be the seat of the Presidium of the Government, and houses many tasteful, unique solutions, inspired by the Italian Renaissance. Thanks to restoration and modernisation works, it has gained an unprecedented image, and new business-related functions, adding to its already intriguing character.

The Ufficio Primo building is situated in the very centre of the capital, close to many government institutions, the headquarters of strategic Polish and international companies, as well as luxury hotels and trendy restaurants.

The central part of the Ufficio Primo edifice is its spectacular patio – an internal courtyard covered with a futuristic dome. This stylish patio can be used as an elegant venue with extraordinary ambience, while the underground part of the Ufficio Primo houses a congress centre.

Ujazdowski Castle is a historical building in the heart of the city. A former summer residence of Polish kings, the building is situated along the Royal Route and is home to the Centre for Contemporary Art, one of the most important art galleries in Poland. It is also an ideal venue for conferences, seminars, promotional events and banquets. The castle houses a variety of extraordinary spaces, each possessing its own unique atmosphere. The historical cellars, intimate auditorium, and arcaded courtyard comprise excellent venues for the most memorable special events. Additional advantages for everyone who uses the castle's rooms are its convenient location and spacious car park. The novelty of the castle’s courtyard is its temporary roof (from April to November).
